An invitation from Danielle: Over the past three years, I have been going through the ordination process with Mennonite Church Eastern Canada. Last January, I had my final interview with plans to be ordained in June before I left LMC. However COVID-19 changed those plans for ordination.

My ordination was postponed for a later date, hoping that it could be done when we were able to gather together again and perhaps some friends and family could travel to it. This past fall, I was dwelling on the story of Esther when Mordecai reminds her that perhaps she was put in a role "for such a time as this." As I pondered that, the question kept coming to me of why we would postpone an ordination- a time that affirms my call to be a pastor by the community, by God and even personally. Honestly, I often feel the need to have that pastoral call affirmed particularly during these times, not despite them.

A plus to having an ordination during COVID means that it will be online and I am able to have folks involved who wouldn't normally travel for such an event. And so, I would like to invite you to attend my ordination virtually on February 21 at 2pm EST.
